Convention tales:

In 1995 I wasn't sure if I was going to stay in AA or even stay alive. My little Al-Anon was pregnant with our third son. My sponsor said you got to go to San Diego for the International Convention. I said no. He said yes! On the final day there in the big meeting at Jack Murphy Stadium, it was hot and muggy. Michelle turned all white and said I've got to go. So, we stood up to get some shade and she passed out in the arms of a new friend, Bill L. He caught her and a new relationship bloomed up for all of us. Bill became a good friend of mine and became my wife's special friend, she could show a little extra love, respect and kindness to. The Jumbotron video caught it all.
