Announcing: Ebook adjusted list pricing

April 3, 2023

Dear A.A. Friends,

In our continued efforts to best serve the Fellowship, offering our items of literature to all purchasers with an emphasis on fairness, parity and implementing normalized pricing across our various formats of each item, we have updated our suggested list prices for ebooks effective April 3, 2023 to align as closely as possible with our print pricing.

A note on selling prices

Just as the cost to purchasers of our print formats are subject to quantity discounts and other special offers, our ebooks are subject to routine discounting and special offers across vendors. This means that the cost to purchasers in most cases is less than our suggested listed price for each ebook item downloaded.

Please feel free to contact us with any questions at publishingnews@aa.org.

With all best A.A. wishes,
